

Belief in god scale

Atheist

Theist

Cut out the beliefs and place them where you think they lie on the scale.

I am 100% certain that a god exists.	I believe it is very unlikely that a god exists and I live my life as though there is no god.	I am uncertain but believe that it is more likely a god exists than one doesn't.	I am 100% certain that there is no god.
I am completely undecided.	I am uncertain but believe that it is more likely a god doesn't exist than one does.	I believe it is very likely that a god exists and I live my life as though there is a god.

A theist believes in a god. An atheist does not believe in a god.

People can be more or less confident about their belief or disbelief in a god. Many atheists will accept that they cannot be 100% certain that a god of some kind does not exist (they won't place themselves at the extreme end of the scale). However, they don't see any persuasive reason or evidence to believe in a god and will live their lives as though there is no god.

